

Dear Parent or Guardian:

Intermountain Healthcare provides Respiratory Outpatient Clinics (ROC) for the treatment of bronchiolitis. These clinics are available at most Intermountain Facilities. The clinics provide a convenient place for infants who have been seen by a clinician, do not require hospitalization, but may need further symptom management during the course of their illness. The ROC has been very successful from patient / physician satisfaction. Each ROC is staffed by a Respiratory Therapist who is also caring for patients within the hospital. Due to special considerations caused by the COVID-19 pandemic the following is what you can expect from the ROC and what we need from you:

Before your first visit to the ROC:

- Call the ROC of your choice before leaving your house/residence for availability and where to register once you arrive on site
- Your infant needs to have a COVID-19 test obtained before a ROC visit, if possible please have your results available
- Watch the 'Bronchiolitis' Video by scanning the QR code on the reverse of this page
- A list of ROC locations and phone numbers are also on the reverse
  - We need to minimize the number of people entering the hospital building
  - Be sure that your insurance will cover a visit from your preferred site
  - Because the Respiratory Therapist staffing the ROC will also be caring for patients admitted to the hospital, they will make every effort to promptly receive and assess your child

Upon arrival to the ROC:

- 1 healthy parent/guardian, wearing a mask, may accompany the infant into the ROC
- The parent/guardian will be screened for COVID-19 symptoms upon entering the hospital per our Intermountain visitor policy guidelines

During the visit in the ROC your infant will receive:

- Assessment of oxygen saturations, work of breathing, and hydration status throughout the 7 days of an active order
- Need for PRN Bulb, nasal, or nasopharyngeal suctioning with pre- & post-treatment assessment
- Family education and teaching of Bronchiolitis/RSV and suctioning for home

What you can do in the home:

- If you must go out, wear a face covering, wash your hands often, and avoid excessive contact with those not of your immediate family
- Remain home if you or your infant have symptoms and are ill
- Contact your pediatrician if your child has trouble breathing, consider a tele-visit
- Use an Over-The-Counter suction device to help clear your infant's nose and airways
- Be sure your child drinks plenty of fluids
- Watch and refer to the 'Bronchiolitis' video on the reverse of this page

We look forward to partnering with you in the care of your child.
